Tuesday, November 12, 2013
Tulsa Technology- Riverside Campus – Tulsa, OK
8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

ART CERNOSIA is a national expert in special education law. He has been the opening speaker at the LRP's Annual National Institute on Legal Issues of Educating Students with Disabilities and has helped states and school districts with compliance issues throughout his career. For over 20 years he has provided training to the Oklahoma State Department of Education and to the hearing/appeal officers presiding over special education disputes.

Art keeps up with the most recent changes and interpretations of special education law. Learn the most current information on special education topics.

Art is a fully entertaining speaker! He takes complex legal jargon and explains how to interpret the law in everyday common language and examples. Attendees rate his presentations with the highest scores available. Parents and school districts agreed that they wanted him back!

Art is a highly sought after special education consultant throughout the United States. You can only hear him at national conferences, so take this opportunity to hear what he has to say while he is visiting with Oklahoma!
