

May 20, 2013

Special Education Directors/Contacts,

Dynamic Learning Maps is looking for teachers to work this summer as writers of instructionally relevant testlets. The expertise that would be developed would be very valuable for your personally as well as a representative within your state.

We have checked with the University of Kansas and we can get dorm rooms and cafeteria access for breakfast and dinner for about $50 a day for up to 30 educators and can afford the following plan for a limited number of educators who are located 90 miles or more from Lawrence, Kansas.

- Salary of $160 a day from June 3 – July 26

- Single dorm room (with shared hallway lavatory and showers)

- Breakfast and dinner in dorm cafeteria

- Reimbursement of up to $500 in travel costs if they stay the full eight weeks (or if they are let go)

- Transportation from the dorm to the work site and back each day

If you know of any teachers in your states who would be interested in participating please request they email a resume to rcon@ku.edu. We especially need, and thus priority will be given to, special educators who are interested in the development of mathematics testlets.

Neal Kingston

Director, Dynamic Learning Maps Alternate Assessment Project

Professor, Psychology and Research in Education

Director, Achievement and Assessment Institute

Co-Director Center for Educational testing and Evaluation

1122 West Campus Road, Room 720

University of Kansas

785-864-9705

nkingsto@ku.edu

www.cete.us

www.dynamiclearningmaps.org

www.careerpathways.us