

Behavioral Science for Teachers (BeST) Training

OSDE-Special Education Services is pleased to announce its partnership with Dr. Scott Singleton, to provide behavioral science training to district staff to increase its capacity in addressing significant student behavior.

Dr. Scott Singleton BCBA-D, NCSP has worked in the behavioral science and education field for over 20 years. He has served as a school psychologist in multiple states, the response to intervention coordinator for a large urban school district, clinical director for a school for children with developmental disabilities and is currently a professor of psychology at the University of Central Oklahoma where he oversees Behavior Central, a center for teacher training and behavioral consultation, and the master's program in behavior analysis.

Team Training:

Participation requires a district team including a minimum of two district personnel with a maximum of four district personnel. Enlisted team members are required to attend all five days of training.

Registration:

Registration is free. Hotel and travel expenses are available for reimbursement to districts through Project 613.

Locations & Dates:

Oklahoma City, July 18, 19, 20, and October 11, and February 21
Tulsa, July 25, 26, 27, and October 18, and February 28

The exact locations are to be determined. Each location has a capacity of 100 participants.

Application:

Through a rubric application, preference will be given to districts that have limited trained personnel and capacity to address significant student behavioral issues. Complete the rubric application and return to megan.horton@sde.ok.gov no later than July 1, 2022. Team applicants will be notified by July 6th if they are selected to participate in the training.
