Purpose

The purpose of the Grade 5 Reading Test is to measure Oklahoma students' level of proficiency. On this test, students are required to respond to a variety of items linked to the fifth-grade reading content standards identified in the Oklahoma Academic Standards (OAS). Each Reading Test form assesses each identified content standard and objective listed below. The following standards and objectives are intended to summarize the knowledge as identified in the Oklahoma Academic Standards.

Oklahoma Academic Standards Content Standards and Objectives
Vocabulary <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Words in Context (1.1)</li> <li>• Affixes, Roots, and Stems (1.2)</li> <li>• Synonyms, Antonyms, and Homonyms/Homophones (1.3)</li> </ul>

Note: All references to Oklahoma Academic Standards (OAS) indicate the content standards and objectives previously known as Priority Academic Student Skills (PASS).

Test Structure, Format, and Scoring

The Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests consist of multiple-choice items. Each multiple-choice item is scored as correct or incorrect. The student's raw score is converted to a scaled score using the number correct method. Of the total items, 10 items are field-test items and do not contribute to the student's scaled score.

Content Assessment	Total Items	Total Operational Items	Total Field Test Items
Mathematics	60	50	10
Reading	60	50	10
Science	55	45	10
Social Studies	60	50	10

Test Alignment with Oklahoma Academic Standards

Criteria for Aligning the Test with the Oklahoma Academic Standards Content Standards and Objectives
1. Categorical Concurrence	The test is constructed so that there are at least six items measuring each OAS standard. The number of items is based on estimating the number of items that could produce a reasonably reliable estimate of a student's mastery of the content measured.
2. Depth of Knowledge Consistency	The test is constructed using items from a variety of Depth of Knowledge levels that are consistent with the processes students need in order to demonstrate proficiency for each OAS objective.
3. Range of Knowledge Correspondence	The test is constructed so that at least 75% of the objectives for each OAS standard have at least one corresponding assessment item.
4. Balance of Representation	The test is constructed according to the Test Blueprint which reflects the degree of representation given on the test to each OAS standard and/or OAS objective in terms of the percent of total test items measuring each standard and the number of test items measuring each standard and/or objective. The test construction shall yield a balance of representation with an index of 0.7 or higher of assessed objectives related to a standard.
5. Source of Challenge	Each test item is constructed in such a way that the major cognitive demand comes directly from the targeted OAS objective or OAS concept being assessed, not from specialized knowledge or cultural background of the test taker.

Oklahoma School Testing Program
Grade 5 Reading – Test Blueprint

(Please note this blueprint does not include items that may be field-tested.)

- A minimum of 6 items is required to report a standard, and a minimum of 4 items is required to report results for an objective.

Depth of Knowledge Assessed by Test Items

The Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests will, as closely as possible, reflect the following "Depth of Knowledge" distribution of items.

Grades 3–5
Depth of Knowledge	Percent of Items
Level 1—Recall and Reproduction	20–25%
Level 2—Skills and Concepts	65–70%
Level 3—Strategic Thinking	5–15%

Grades 6–8
Depth of Knowledge	Percent of Items
Level 1—Recall and Reproduction	10–15%
Level 2—Skills and Concepts	65–70%
Level 3—Strategic Thinking	15–25%

Level 1 (Recall and Reproduction) requires students to receive or recite facts, to use simple skills and abilities, and to demonstrate basic comprehension. Items require only a shallow understanding of a single word or phrase. Some examples that represent but do not constitute all Level 1 performances are:

- Support ideas by reference to details in the text.
- Use a dictionary to find the meaning of words.
- Identify figurative language in a reading passage.

Level 2 (Skills and Concepts) includes the engagement of some mental processing beyond recalling or reproducing a response; it requires both comprehension and subsequent processing of text or portions of text. Inter-sentence analysis or inference is required. Some important concepts are covered but not in a complex way. Standards and items at this level may include words such as summarize, interpret, infer, classify, organize, collect, display, compare, and determine whether fact or opinion. Literal main ideas are stressed. A Level 2 assessment item may require students to apply some of the skills and concepts that are covered in Level 1. Some examples that represent but do not constitute all Level 2 performances are:

- Use context clues to identify the meaning of unfamiliar words.
- Predict a logical outcome based on information in a reading selection.
- Identify and summarize the major events in a narrative.

Level 3 (Strategic Thinking) encourages students to go beyond the text; however, they are still required to show understanding of the ideas in the text. Students may be encouraged to explain, generalize, or connect ideas. Standards and items at Level 3 involve reasoning and planning and will probably be an extended activity with extended time provided. The extended time period is not a distinguishing factor if the required work is only repetitive and does not require applying significant conceptual understanding and higher-order thinking. Students take information from at least one passage and are asked to apply this information to a new task. They may also be asked to develop hypotheses and perform complex analyses of the connections among texts, or describe and illustrate how common themes are found across texts from different cultures. Students must be able to support their thinking. Items may involve abstract theme identification, inference across an entire passage, or students' application of prior knowledge. Items may also involve more superficial connections between texts. Some examples that represent, but do not constitute, all Level 3 performances are:

- Analyze and synthesize information from multiple sources.
- Examine and explain alternative perspectives across a variety of sources.
- Describe and illustrate how common themes are found across texts from different cultures.
- Determine the author's purpose and describe how it affects the interpretation of a reading selection.
- Summarize information from multiple sources to address a specific topic.
- Analyze and describe the characteristics of various types of literature.

Note—The descriptions are adapted from Review Background Information and Instructions, Standards and Assessment Alignment Analysis, CCSSO TILSA Alignment Study, May 21–24, 2001, Version 2.0.

Universal Test Design Considerations

Universal design, as applied to assessments, is a concept that allows the widest possible range of students to participate in assessments and may even reduce the need for accommodations and alternative assessments by expanding access to the tests themselves. In the Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests, modifications have been made to some items that simplify and clarify instructions, and provide maximum readability, comprehensibility, and legibility. This includes such things as reduction of language load in content areas other than Reading, increased font size, fewer items per page, and boxed items to assist visual focus. Reading tests will have vocabulary at grade level. In all other tests, the vocabulary level will be below the grade being tested except for content words. Grades 3 and 4 will be one grade level below, and grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 will be two grade levels below. These modifications are evident in the sample items included in this document.

Testing Schedules

Each subject test, except Writing, is divided into two separate sections at grades 3, 4, and 5. These two sections of the test may be administered on the same day with a break given between the sections or on consecutive days. At grades 6, 7, and 8, each subject area test is meant to be administered in a separate session. Students may be given additional time if needed, but additional time will be given as an extension of the same testing period, not at a different time.

Multiple-Choice Item Guidelines

- All item stems clearly indicate what is expected in an item to help students focus on selecting a response.
- Each multiple-choice item has a stem (question, statement, or incomplete statement, and/or graphic component) and four answer (or completion) options, only one of which is correct.
- Multiple-choice item stems present a complete problem so that students know what to do before looking at the answer choices; students should not need to read all answer choices before knowing what is expected.
- Art incorporated within an item must be functional and assist students in determining the correct response.

In summary, test items assess whether students: understand relevant concepts and procedures; communicate their understandings effectively in content specific terms; approach problems; and develop viable solutions. In Reading, items ask questions that address issues of importance in a text, and the questions are consequential, concise, focused, and fair.

Stimulus Materials

Stimulus materials are the passages, graphs, models, figures, etc. that students must read and examine in order to respond to items. The following characteristics are necessary for stimulus materials:

1. When students are given information, data, or an experimental setup to evaluate, they should know the research question and the purpose of the research.
2. Tables, graphs, reading passages, and illustrations provide sufficient information for assessment of multiple standards.
3. Stimulus materials for a set of items may be a combination of multiple stimuli.
4. Information in stimulus materials is representative of concepts and principles described in the Oklahoma Academic Standards.
5. For conceptual items, stimulus materials are necessary but not conceptually sufficient for student response.
6. There is a balance of graphic and textual stimulus materials within a test form. At least 50% of the items have appropriate pictorial and graphical representations. Graphs, tables, or figures are clearly associated with their intended items. Graphics appear either on the same page as the stimulus or on the facing page.
7. The stimuli avoid subject matter that might prompt emotional distress on the part of the students.
8. Permission to use stimuli from copyrighted material is obtained as necessary by the testing vendor.

General Considerations

It is necessary to create test items that are reliable, fair, and targeted to the Oklahoma Academic Standards listed on the following pages. There are some general considerations and procedures for effective item development. These considerations include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Each test form contains items assessing standards and objectives listed in the Test Blueprint for the specific grade and content area. In the Oklahoma Academic Standards document, asterisks have been used to identify standards and objectives that must be assessed by the local school district.
2. Test items that assess each standard are not limited to one particular type of response format. Each item begins with a stem that asks a question or poses a clear problem. Stems may include incomplete sentences in order to reduce unnecessary repetition of text.
3. Test items attempt to focus on content that is authentic and that grade-level students can relate to and understand.
4. Test items are worded precisely and clearly. The more focused an item, the more reliable and fair it will be, and the more likely all students will understand what is required of them.

5. All items are reviewed to eliminate language that is biased or is otherwise likely to disadvantage a particular group of students. That is, items do not display unfair representations of gender, race, ethnicity, disability, culture, or religion; nor do items contain elements that are offensive to any such groups.
6. All multiple-choice items, including the correct response and distractors, are similar in length and syntax. Students should not be able to rule out a wrong answer or identify a correct response solely because it looks or sounds different from the other answer choices. Distractors are created so that students reason their way to the correct answer rather than simply identify incorrect responses because of a distractor's obviously inappropriate nature. Distractors should always be plausible (but incorrect) in the context of the item stem. Correct responses are reasonably distributed among A's, B's, C's, and D's. The distractors adopt the language and sense of the material in the selection. Test items focus on reading skills and comprehension strategies, avoiding measurement of a student's feelings or values.
7. Items deal with issues and details that are of consequence in the stimulus and central to students' understanding and interpretation of the stimulus.
8. To the greatest extent possible, no item or response choice clues the answer to any other item. No item stem or answer option provides clues to any other item's answer, nor is the same fact of the passage assessed more than once, including the same vocabulary or technical term.
9. Test items are tied closely and particularly to the stimuli from which they derive, so that the impact of outside (prior) knowledge, while never wholly avoidable, is minimized.
10. The responses —"Both of the above," "All of the above," "None of the above," and "Neither of the above" are not used.
11. Most stems are positively worded—avoiding the use of the word not. If a negative is required, the format is "All of the following . . . except."
12. The material presented is balanced, culturally diverse, well-written, and of interest to students. The stimuli and items are presented fairly in order to gain a true picture of students' skills.
13. Across all forms, a balance of gender and active/passive roles by gender is maintained.
14. No resource materials or calculators may be used by students during the test.

Considerations for Reading

Grade-level passages contain identifiable key concepts with relevant supporting details. Each passage will be appropriate for determining the purpose for reading; analyzing character traits; compare/contrast; problem/solution; interpretation; application; analysis; synthesis; drawing conclusions; making an inference; being conducive for vocabulary analogies; and relevant reading tasks as defined by the Oklahoma Academic Standards for the specific grade level.

The passages have a variety of sentence types and lengths, may include dialogue, reflect Oklahoma's cultural diversity, and possess sufficient structural integrity to allow them to be self-contained. Reading passages will reflect a balance of genres from narrative and expository texts. The majority of the selections used for the reading test include authentic literature; a minor portion may be selected from commissioned works.

All passages are reviewed to eliminate cultural or other forms of bias that might disadvantage any group(s) of students. The passages avoid subject matter that might prompt emotional distress. Permission to use selections from copyrighted material are obtained as necessary. Each passage generates multiple-choice items.

Grade	Word Count*	Authentic Literary Selections	Expository Selections (1 task-oriented/functional)
3	200–600	3–6	3–5
4	200–600	4–6	3–5
5	300–700	4–6	4–6
6	300–700	4–6	4–6
7	500–900	4–6	4–6
8	500–900	4–6	4–6

*Paired passages can have a total word count 1.5 times the highest word count for that grade.

A test form contains at least one set of paired passages that allows students to make comparisons and connections between texts. The items with paired passages, which require comparisons and connections, should appear after both passages. There is a minimum of three questions for the related paired passages in addition to three to five separate questions for each of the passages in the pair.

Readability

The selected reading passages will be at the appropriate grade level. The readability level of all passages is evaluated using three recognized readability formulas. The formulas chosen for each grade vary according to the purpose for which the formula was developed.

Grades 3 and 4 use the following formulas: Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level, Spache, or any other formula that is deemed appropriate. Grades 5–8 determine the readability level of their passages using the following formulas: Dale-Chall, Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level, Smog, or any other formulas considered reliable.

In addition, sentence structure, length, vocabulary, content, visuals, and organization are reviewed when selecting appropriate grade level passages. The teacher panel that reviews the passages provides the final evaluation instrument used to make a decision in regards to the readability of a passage.

Vocabulary

The vocabulary words tested in Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests come directly from the passage content. Words used for vocabulary items have sufficient surrounding context clues for the reader to determine the meaning. Students may encounter words in the text that are not tested, but are above the student's grade placement. In Grades 3–5, these challenging words and their definitions may be placed in a word box above the story or article. In Grades 6–8, the definitions of challenging words may be placed in footnotes.

No single source is available to determine the reading level of various words. Therefore, the appropriateness and difficulty of a word is determined in various ways. Vocabulary words are checked in the following: EDL Core Vocabularies in Reading, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies; Basic Reading Vocabularies; The Living Word; or other reliable readability sources. In addition to using the aforementioned printed resources to assist in creating vocabulary items, each vocabulary item must be approved by Oklahoma's Content Review Committee. The committee, comprised of Oklahoma educators from across the state, reviews proposed vocabulary items for grade level appropriateness. Reading tests will have vocabulary at grade level. In all other tests, the vocabulary level will be below the grade being tested except for content words. Grades 3 and 4 will be one grade level below, and grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 will be two grade levels below.

All items developed using these specifications are reviewed by Oklahoma educators and approved by the Oklahoma State Department of Education. The distribution of newly developed items is based on content and process alignment, difficulty, cognitive ability, percentage of art/graphics, and grade-level appropriateness as determined by an annual Item Development Plan approved by the Oklahoma State Department of Education.

Overview of Item Specifications

For each of the OAS standards, item specifications are organized under the following headings:

- OAS Standard and OAS Objective
- Item Specifications
  - a. Emphasis
  - b. Stimulus Attributes
  - c. Format
  - d. Content Limits
  - e. Distractor Domain
  - f. Sample Test Items

The headings "OAS Standard" and "OAS Objective" state the standard and objective being measured as found in the reading section of the Oklahoma Academic Standards document.

The heading "Item Specifications" highlights important points about the items' emphasis, stimulus attributes, format, content limits, distractor domain, and sample test items. Although it is sometimes possible to score single items for more than one concept, all items in these tests are written to address a single content standard as the primary concept.

Note about the Item Specifications and Sample Test Items:

With the exception of content limits, the item specifications give suggestions of what might be included but do not give an exhaustive list of what can be included. The sample test items are not intended to be definitive in nature or construction—the stimuli and the test items that follow them may differ from one test form to another, as may their presentations.

Oklahoma Academic Standards

  - a. Summarize and paraphrase information from entire reading selection including the main idea and significant supporting details.
  - b. Make generalizations with information gleaned from text.
  - c. Support ideas and arguments by reference to relevant aspects of text and issues across texts.
  - d. Organize text information in different ways (e.g., timeline, outline, graphic organizer) to support and explain ideas.
4. Analysis and Evaluation
  - a. Identify and analyze the characteristics of poetry, drama, fiction, and nonfiction and explain the appropriateness of the literary form chosen by an author for a specific purpose.
  - b. Identify the main problem or conflict of the plot and explain how it is resolved.
  - c. Contrast the actions, motives, and appearances of characters in a work of fiction and discuss the importance of the contrasts to the plot or theme.
  - d. Make observations and connections, react, speculate, interpret, and raise questions in analysis of texts.
  - e. Recognize structural patterns found in information text (e.g., cause and effect, problem/solution, sequential order).
  - f. Distinguish among facts/inferences supported by evidence and opinions in text.
- *5. Monitoring and Correction Strategies
  - a. Monitor own reading and modify strategies as needed when understanding breaks down (e.g., rereading a portion aloud, using reference aids, searching for clues, and asking questions).
  - b. Predict, monitor, and check for understanding using semantic, syntactic, and graphophonic cues.
  - c. Monitor and adjust reading rate according to the purpose for reading and the difficulty of the text.

*Reading PassagesA New Garden

- 1 José went to the community center after school, and every day he would shake his head when he rounded the corner of the building and stepped in the mud. Endless bicycles and running feet had crushed what little grass existed. The ground was mostly dirt, which quickly turned into mud when it rained.
- 2 “That place next to the center looks horrible,” he complained to his brother. “Even worse, the mud gets tracked everywhere when it rains. Somebody ought to do something!”
- 3 His older brother looked at him with frustration. “Think about it. ‘Somebody ought to do something!’ Aren’t you somebody? Why don’t YOU do something?”
- 4 José thought about it for a minute and knew his brother was right. He should do something about that unsightly ground. The question was, what could he do?
- 5 The answer came when he talked to his friend, Lena, about food they did not like.
- 6 “I hate tomatoes,” Lena said. “They taste like cardboard.”
- 7 José agreed. “My mom says that’s because we get tomatoes at the store. If we had really fresh tomatoes, we’d love them.”
- 8 “Where could we get fresh tomatoes?” Lena wondered.
- 9 Suddenly, José jumped up. “That’s it! We could grow them on the ground next to the center!”
- 10 Lena shook her head. “I don’t know. A garden is a lot of trouble, and you’d need help.”

- 11 The next day, José went to talk to Mrs. Stevens, the director of the center.
- 12 “It’s a good idea,” she told him sadly, “but we just don’t have the money to put into a garden.”
- 13 José grinned and said, “Lena and I thought of that. We have contacted several people who will help plant the seeds, water the plants, and do the weeding. Lena’s uncle has seeds left over from his garden and we’ll use those. We’ll have tomatoes, beans, lettuce, and zucchini.”
- 14 The next day, the volunteers began digging and preparing the soil for a vegetable garden. Within a few days, the seeds were planted and watered. The students watched as the green shoots appeared, and within a few weeks, more plants pushed through. As the days passed and their vegetables grew, the friends waited eagerly to sample the delicious vegetables.
- 15 Lena carefully gathered the tomatoes and zucchini and reflected on their success. One person could not have accomplished this task. Their success was due to each person helping one another, sharing the work. Yes, the key to success was cooperation. She thought about a video their class had watched last week about how animals work together. Even animals cooperate to benefit the group.
- 16 Lena took her first bite of a delicious red tomato and smiled. José was right; they did taste better when you grow them yourself.

Animal Families

calves—name for the young of certain mammals including the young of elephants

- 1 Animals often work together to get a job done. Taking care of the young is very important, but so is eating. How does a mother search for food and at the same time keep her babies safe?
- 2 Wild dogs live in large groups called packs. When the leaders of the pack need to hunt for food, the pups are left in the den. The other members of the pack stay behind and watch over the pups, acting as “aunts.” It is their responsibility to keep the pups safe until the leaders of the pack return.
- 3 Lions live together as a family called prides. The mother will raise her young until it is old enough to be with the rest of the pride. When female lions hunt for food, they leave their cubs with other lionesses. These protective females babysit the cubs until the food is brought back from the hunt. Then they share the food with the cubs.
- 4 Elephants, however, travel together in herds and eat along the way. Most herds consist of females that keep a watchful eye on the calves. If a calf needs comforting, the nearest adult will take care of it. If it stumbles, one of the older elephants will help steady it.
- 5 Cooperation appears to be an important key to the success of family groups whether they are animals or humans.

Carl's Problem

- 1 Carl sat on the couch in the living room, his head in his hands, sighing in distress. "I didn't mean to do it," he kept repeating. "It was an accident."
- 2 His older sister, Emily, just home from school, came into the room carrying her backpack and a notebook. "Why the gloomy face and sighs?" she asked.
- 3 Carl moaned again, "What was I thinking?"
- 4 "What happened today?" she asked.
- 5 "I just won the school spelling bee," he said.
- 6 "You just won a spelling contest, and you are upset? You are the best soccer player in the school and you always get A's on everything. You should be proud of yourself. Why are you so discouraged?"
- 7 Carl rolled off the couch and said, "Tim is the best speller in school and probably the world, and I beat him!"
- 8 "Nobody wins all the time and just because Tim happens to be your best friend is no reason to carry on like a wet cat."
- 9 Carl paced around the room with his shoulders slumped. "But Tim is my best friend. The one thing he does better than anybody else is spell. I don't want him to feel bad."
- 10 "Aha!" Emily said, "The sun of truth is rising on the horizon. Tim feels like he doesn't have any talents and that's really sad, but it simply is not true. There must be something Tim can do really well besides spell!"
- 11 "Think about what he's good at doing," Emily suggested.
- 12 Carl thought for a moment and then said, "He's really good at imitating people."

- 13 “Well, little brother, I think I have a remedy for your unhappiness,” Emily said, smiling. “Mr. Beck is having tryouts tomorrow for the school play. The main character has to imitate all the other characters in the play, so it’s perfect for Tim.”
- 14 “That is a fantastic idea, Emily. I know Tim will do a great job!”
- 15 The next day, Carl tried to persuade Tim to attend the play tryouts. Tim finally agreed, although he believed he would never get a part.
- 16 Emily was at the tryouts, to encourage Tim as well. “You do imitations of your friends all the time. Just be yourself and you will do great!”
- 17 The tryouts went as Emily had predicted. Many students wanted the part of the lead character, but Tim did superb imitations of the characters. It took only seconds for Mr. Beck to decide who would play the lead. “Tim,” he beamed, “you’re a natural born actor!”
- 18 Tim grinned from ear to ear and so did Carl.

A New Kind of Guard

posture—a position of the body

- 1 The coyote silently sneaks around the western sheep farm. He spots a delicious dinner waiting for him beyond the fence. No guard dogs have barked a warning. He slowly creeps a little closer, but just as he is about to jump across the fence, a strange noise fills the air. It sounds like a creaky door. Suddenly, something large hits the fence. The coyote retreats into the night, unsure of what he saw and heard.
- 2 The coyote's surprise is a new guard making its home in the West. This large, furry animal looks out of place protecting sheep, chickens, and cattle. The new animal keeping a close eye on the herds is the llama, a four-footed animal related to camels.
- 3 The llama was first used to help humans do chores more than 5,000 years ago in South America. When the Spanish brought horses and other animals to the area, llamas almost died out. They could only be found in the highest mountains. However, in recent years, there is a growing interest in the animals. One reason is their use as guards on ranches.
- 4 For some reason, llamas show a fierce reaction to wolves and coyotes. When a llama spots one of these animals stalking a herd, it immediately changes its posture to let others know that danger is near. Next, it lets out a special and unusual cry of alarm. It sounds like a rusty hinge on an old door. Finally, the llama runs toward the hunter, trying to kick it away. Bravely, the llama places itself between the herd he is protecting and the threat. Nothing seems to frighten them. In fact, Dan Goodyear, the owner of a llama farm in Pennsylvania, says, "When their mind is set, they seem to be fearless. The llama is a natural guard."

- 5 Farmers are thrilled with their new guard llamas. They are very helpful in scaring away wild animals. Farmers are not losing as many animals as they once did. According to Sheila Fugina, president of Llama Association of North America, or LANA, these animals want to work. "Llamas like to have a job," she says.
- 6 In addition, llamas are valuable for their fur, which can be used to make clothing. In this way they are like the sheep they protect. Other people use llamas as pack animals to carry things. For others, these large, fluffy animals become family pets.
- 7 Llama farms are popping up all over the United States. There are several hundred farms across the country. LANA was founded in 1981 to help rescue llamas from places where they are not wanted. These animals are then placed in good homes such as Western ranches. These farmers and ranchers value their new watchdogs—or watch llamas.

Simple Seeds

1            Tiny pieces of possible beauty
              Spill out and fill my palm.
Simple seeds whose looks deceive.
Future vines, stems, and blooms

5            Hidden inside a plain package.
Tenderly placed in a cradle of soil,
Covered up, put into darkness
Until something deep inside,
Something mysterious and marvelous,

10          Draws them back up to the sun again.
Directing the sun from top to bottom,
Spreading water from bottom to top
In an ancient, primitive, endless cycle,
Spring's cool rains and summer's
15          Release the seeds' inner power,
Reminding me again that greatness
Comes from simple things
If cared for gently, watched quietly
And always appreciated.

The Nurse Who Taught the Doctors

- 1 It could happen in seconds. One minute a child would be running and playing. The next minute, the youngster would be in pain and not able to move. The terrible disease, polio, had struck.
- 2 These moments usually occurred without warning. Many children were suddenly not able to walk and run. Doctors tried easing the pain by putting the children's legs in braces and casts. They also believed the supports would strengthen the muscles. Actually, as a simple country nurse proved, the opposite was true.
- 3 Elizabeth or "Sister" Kenny, as she became known, was from Australia. She was born on a farm in 1880. Until well into her 20s, she worked on the family farm. As a teenager, she had shown an interest in medicine. While treating her broken wrist, a doctor let Kenny borrow some medical books. He taught her about the body's muscles.
- 4 When Kenny was about 30 years old, she was offered a nursing job. The job meant working in the Australian bush. The bush was a very rough land, but Kenny did not mind. Bush settlements were far from hospitals and doctors. She knew the people living there needed her.
- 5 In 1911, Kenny was called to help a little girl. The girl was in great pain and could not move. Kenny had never seen this illness. She called upon her former doctor for help. He told her the girl had polio. He also said no one knew how to treat it. "Do your best," was his only suggestion.
- 6 Kenny's best idea was to dip wool strips in warm water. She wrapped these strips around the girl's legs. Amazingly, the moist heat eased her pain. Next, Kenny helped the girl exercise her legs. Before long, the girl was walking again without any help. Six other children in the area also got polio. Kenny handled them the same way. They also began to feel better and were able to walk again.
- 7 Many doctors did not believe in Kenny's methods because her handling of polio was so different from theirs. Many did not like that a simple nurse succeeded where they were failing. World War I interrupted Kenny's effort to win them over.

- 8 Kenny served bravely as a nurse during the war. She performed well and earned the rank of "Sister."
- 9 After the war, polio remained a problem. By the 1930s, it was breaking out around the world. In 1933, Sister Kenny opened a polio care center in Townsville, Queensland. Patients from around the world came to receive her care. Still, many doctors would not treat polio using her methods.
- 10 In 1940, some supporters suggested Sister Kenny travel to America. There some doctors finally listened. They helped her start the Sister Kenny Institute in Minneapolis, Minnesota. At the Institute, she showed doctors how to care for polio patients.
- 11 Sister Kenny continued her work until she passed away in 1952. That same year, a new medicine was introduced. People who took this medicine no longer worried about getting polio. By then, doctors realized her exercises had other uses. Today, they ease many kinds of bone or muscle problems. Sister Kenny had introduced the new medical field of physical therapy to the world.

Flying Blossoms

- 1 Diego looked into the distance, unaware of the magnificent sunset, and sighed. In three weeks, he would perform at a symphony in Mexico City. As much as he loved the music he played, Diego feared performing a violin solo. What if he made a mistake? What if he forgot the notes? Was he really accomplished enough to play before people who are familiar with great musical artists?
- 2 "Why do I hear such a miserable sigh? Your heart must feel heavy, indeed," said Diego's grandfather.
- 3 "I am thinking about the symphony," Diego told him.
- 4 "And what are you thinking?" asked Grandfather.
- 5 "That I would prefer to stay home," Diego replied. "I have nothing special to offer."
- 6 Grandfather patted Diego's shoulder. "You are afraid to perform for so many people, aren't you?" he smiled. "You must confront that fear, because you have a great gift to contribute to the world."
- 7 "I just play my violin, how is that important or useful?"
- 8 "You bring beauty into the world. When the notes from your violin fly into the air, people smile with joy." Grandfather suddenly grinned. "Just the way you will smile when I show you some blossoms that fly in the air. They bring pleasure to people just as your music does."
- 9 "Flowers can't fly!" Diego protested.
- 10 Grandfather smiled, "It happens only in Mexico."
- 11 Diego asked many questions but Grandfather would only say, "Wait and see."
- 12 One morning Diego's father packed an enormous basket of food and folded two blankets on top of the basket.

- 13 "Why are you packing so much food?" Diego asked.
- 14 "You are going to El Rosario with your grandfather."
- 15 Diego's heart beat faster. "Is El Rosario where I will see the flying blossoms?" he asked. However, his father and grandfather just looked at each other and smiled secretively.
- 16 Finally Diego and his grandfather began their journey. They walked five miles the first day and slept beside rocks that retained the sun's warmth. The next day, they traveled eight miles, and the third day, seven more. As evening fell, they came to a dense forest of fir trees.
- 17 "We will sleep under the trees tonight," said Grandfather. "Tomorrow you will see the flying blossoms."
- 18 In the morning, Diego woke suddenly. What was that noise?
- 19 Flapping! He heard wings flapping softly, stirring the air with a gentle breeze.
- 20 "Grandfather, wake up!" Diego cried.
- 21 Sunlight slipped through the fir trees and splashed light on the orange blossoms covering the tree limbs. The blossoms quivered.
- 22 Diego continued to stare as he held his breath. The blossoms fluttered and Diego exhaled in a sudden gasp of astonishment. Butterflies!
- 23 Hundreds of brilliantly orange monarch butterflies filled the trees and drifted in great clouds through the sky. They covered every tree limb, twig, and trunk with orange wings that waved like flower petals in the wind.
- 24 "They fly here from the north to rest during the winter," Grandfather told Diego. "It is a great distance but they would freeze in the cold northern air if they did not make the journey."

25 "What a magnificent sight!" Diego cried out. "Thank you for bringing me here and sharing nature's beauty."

26 Grandfather laughed. "You have smiled with joy," he reminded Diego. "You have a talent that will make others smile too. Don't you think you need to share it with others?"

27 Diego nodded. "I will remember the flying blossoms if I become nervous during my solo," he told Grandfather. "But right now, I would like to continue sharing in the joy of the flying blossoms. May we stay and watch a little longer?"

Piper

- 1 The long green and yellow leaves swayed gently with the gradual flow of the current. The sunlight cast silent shadows on the coral reef as Piper peeked out of her father's pouch. She marveled at the world that lay before her. The many bright colors of the coral reef as well as the colorful sea animals filled her with nervous excitement. She wiggled her fin rapidly and floated away.
- 2 Piper moved quickly from the warm protection of her father's pouch, where she had lived and grown for the last six weeks. She had shared that pouch with 199 brothers and sisters. Like other seahorses, Piper's father carried the unborn eggs in a special pouch until the babies hatched. Although Piper's father has this sole responsibility, her mother stays close by. Piper's parents will stay together even after she and her brothers and sisters leave.
- 3 As Piper ventured out of her warm home, she noticed that she could not swim in an upright position like her parents. Instead, she floated on her face! Gradually, she managed to swim like the adult sea horses. However, she would not be an adult for another year.
- 4 Once the young sea horse was in the ocean, she would be on her own. As she glanced around the coral reef, Piper saw that she looked different from many other sea animals. Her body and neck were long and curved. Her tube-shaped snout, or mouth, enabled her to take in water and eat tiny sea animals. Another great thing was that her eyes could look in different directions. She could see a shadow on her left side, while looking at possible food on her right side. This ability would help protect and feed her at the same time.

- 5 Piper liked her beautiful, curved tail. When a sudden current threatened to sweep her away from the reef, she quickly wrapped her tail around a sea grass blade. Piper shuddered, glad that she was still safe among the coral reef plants. Glancing along the reef, she noticed that her sisters were no longer a pinkish color. Once they had swum among the green and yellow leaves, they had become bright green. They looked like plants growing among the coral.
- 6 Now Piper swam toward a piece of seaweed growing closer to the pink coral reef. She saw some of her cousins. One cousin, the pipefish, floated close by. Like Piper, he would always live in the same coral reef. Her favorite cousin, Shadow the sea moth, "flew" through the water. Some of Shadow's fins looked like wings, and he seemed to fly through the ocean. His other fins allowed him to walk on the sea floor.
- 7 Piper hoped she would soon meet more coral reef animals. Some of them looked like leaves, and others looked like dragons! Yes, life on a coral reef was going to be exciting.

Sister Shock

- 1 She came home today
A bundle of cloth with a red face
Peering out with shocked-looking eyes:
My little sister, the new baby of the family.
- 5 All my life, my mom had called me Baby-Girl
Though I haven't been a baby for many years
And I am in sixth grade now and tall for my age
But I have noticed
With my sharp attention to details
- 10 That she hasn't called me that much anymore.
Now the "baby girl" is the new little baby
Screaming from among the folds
A very loud voice for such a tiny package
Looking like a grumpy old man who
- 15 Is red-faced and wrinkled from years in the sun
(I hope she grows into all that skin
Because, after all, she is my sister.)
We used to watch TV or read books
But now everyone mostly watches her.
- 20 I do not know why, since she just lies there
Or cries
But the grown ups get all goofy and giggly
Like children telling silly jokes
And talk about how pretty she is.
- 25 Pretty? With her scrunched up face?
Pretty is me in my blue dress with the violets
Sewn on the sleeves
Maybe I could wear it today and show them
What is what.
- 30 Before I can go change, though, Mom brings
Her to me, and says,
"Baby-Girl, this is your little sister, Anna.
She will need you to help take care of her
And be her big sister. Won't that be fun?"

35 I think about showing her how to fix her hair
And paint her nails
And make an awesome jump shot with the basketball
And I admit, this does not sound too bad,
Being someone's big sister

40 And I feel more hospitable to this tiny girl.
Then I realize Mom called me Baby-Girl,
And tightness in my chest loosens that
I did not even know was hurting.
I hold my little sister

45 She is so warm, like a heating blanket
And heavier than she looks
She smells fresh like daisies in the sun.
She meets my eyes, her blue ones slightly
Wild-eyed and I whisper

50 "It's okay, Anna. It's a strange place, sometimes,
But I will show you around."
And I lay her gently in her crib
Caress her soft fluff of hair
And smile at her with a sigh.
