Purpose

The purpose of the Grade 7 Reading Test is to measure Oklahoma students' level of proficiency. On this test, students are required to respond to a variety of items linked to the standards of the seventh-grade reading content skills identified in the Oklahoma Academic Standards (OAS). Each Reading Test form assesses each identified content standard and objective listed below. The following standards and objectives are intended to summarize the knowledge as identified in the Oklahoma Academic Standards.

Oklahoma Academic Standards Content Standards and Objectives
Vocabulary <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Words in Context (1.1)• Word Origins (1.2)• Idioms and Comparisons (1.3)
Comprehension/Critical Literacy <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Literal Understanding (3.1)• Inference and Interpretation (3.2)• Summary and Generalization (3.3)• Analysis and Evaluation (3.4)
Literature <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Literary Genres (4.1)• Literary Elements (4.2)• Figurative Language and Sound Devices (4.3)
Research and Information <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Accessing Information (5.1)• Interpreting Information (5.2)

Note: All references to Oklahoma Academic Standards (OAS) indicate the content standards and objectives previously known as Priority Academic Student Skills (PASS).

Test Structure, Format, and Scoring

The Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests consist of multiple-choice items. Each multiple-choice item is scored as correct or incorrect. The student's raw score is converted to a scaled score using the number correct method. Of the total items, 10 items are field-test items and do not contribute to the student's scaled score.

Content Assessment	Total Items	Total Operational Items	Total Field Test Items
Mathematics	60	50	10
Reading	60	50	10
Geography	60	50	10

Test Alignment with Oklahoma Academic Standards

Criteria for Aligning the Test with the Oklahoma Academic Standards Content Standards and Objectives
1. Categorical Concurrence	The test is constructed so that there are at least six items measuring each of the OAS standards. The number of items is based on estimating the number of items that could produce a reasonably reliable estimate of a student's mastery of the content measured.
2. Depth of Knowledge Consistency	The test is constructed using items from a variety of Depth of Knowledge levels that are consistent with the processes students need in order to demonstrate proficiency for each OAS objective.
3. Range of Knowledge Correspondence	The test is constructed so that at least 75% of the objectives for each OAS standard have at least one corresponding assessment item.
4. Balance of Representation	The test is constructed according to the Test Blueprint, which reflects the degree of representation given on the test to each OAS standard and/or OAS objective in terms of the percent of total test items measuring each standard and the number of test items measuring each standard and/or objective. The test construction shall yield a balance of representation with an index of 0.7 or higher of assessed objectives related to a standard.
5. Source of Challenge	Each test item is constructed in such a way that the major cognitive demand comes directly from the targeted OAS objective or OAS concept being assessed, not from specialized knowledge or cultural background of the test taker.

Oklahoma School Testing Program

Grade 7 Reading – Test Blueprint

School Years 2014-2015, 2015-2016, 2016-2017

The blueprint describes the content and structure of an assessment and defines the ideal number of test items by standard and objective of the Priority Academic Student Skills/ Oklahoma Academic Standards (PASS/OAS).

Standards and Objectives	Ideal Number of Items	Ideal Percentage of Items
1.0 Vocabulary	10	20%
1.1 Words in Context	3 - 4
1.2 Word Origins	3 - 4
1.3 Idioms and Comparisons	3 - 4
3.0 Comprehension/Critical Literacy	20	40%
3.1 Literal Understanding	4 - 5
3.2 Inferences and Interpretation	4 - 6
3.3 Summary and Generalization	4 - 6
3.4 Analysis and Evaluation	4 - 6
4.0 Literature	12	24%
4.1 Literary Genres	4
4.2 Literary Elements	4
4.3 Figurative Language/Sound Devices	4
5.0 Research and Information	8	16%
5.1 Accessing Information	4
5.2 Interpreting Information	4
Total Test	50	100%

(Please note this blueprint does not include items that may be field-tested.)

- A minimum of 6 items is required to report a standard, and a minimum of 4 items is required to report results for an objective.

Depth of Knowledge Assessed by Test Items

The Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests will, as closely as possible, reflect the following “Depth of Knowledge” distribution of items.

Grades 3-5
Depth of Knowledge	Percent of Items
Level 1: Recall and Reproduction	20-25%
Level 2: Skills and Concepts	65-70%
Level 3: Strategic Thinking	5-15%

Grades 6-8
Depth of Knowledge	Percent of Items
Level 1: Recall and Reproduction	10-15%
Level 2: Skills and Concepts	65-70%
Level 3: Strategic Thinking	15-25%

Level 1 (Recall and Reproduction) requires students to receive or recite facts, to use simple skills or abilities, and to demonstrate basic comprehension of a text. Items require only a shallow understanding of a single word or phrase. Some examples that represent but do not constitute all Level 1 performances are:

- Support ideas by reference to details in the text.
- Use a dictionary to find the meaning of words.
- Identify figurative language in a reading passage.

Level 2 (Skills and Concepts) includes the engagement of some mental processing beyond recalling or reproducing a response; it requires both comprehension and subsequent processing of text or portions of text. Inter-sentence analysis or inference is required. Some important concepts are covered but not in a complex way. Standards and items at this level may include words such as summarize, interpret, infer, classify, organize, collect, display, compare, and determine whether fact or opinion. Literal main ideas are stressed. A Level 2 assessment item may require students to apply some of the skills and concepts that are covered in Level 1. Some examples that represent but do not constitute all Level 2 performances are:

- Use context clues to identify the meaning of unfamiliar words.
- Predict a logical outcome based on information in a reading selection.
- Identify and summarize the major events in a narrative.

Level 3 (Strategic Thinking) encourages students to go beyond the text; however, they are still required to show understanding of the ideas in the text. Students may be encouraged to explain, generalize, or connect ideas. Standards and items at Level 3 involve reasoning and planning and will probably be an extended activity with extended time provided. The extended time period is not a distinguishing factor if the required work is only repetitive and does not require applying significant conceptual understanding and higher-order thinking. Students take information from at least one passage and are asked to apply this information to a new task. They may also be asked to develop hypotheses and perform complex analyses of the connections among texts, or describe and illustrate how common themes are found across texts from different cultures. Students must be able to support their thinking. Items may involve abstract theme identification, inference across an entire passage, or students' application of prior knowledge. Items may also involve more superficial connections between texts. Some examples that represent, but do not constitute, all Level 3 performances are:

- Analyze and synthesize information from multiple sources.
- Examine and explain alternative perspectives across a variety of sources.
- Describe and illustrate how common themes are found across texts from different cultures.
- Determine the author's purpose and describe how it affects the interpretation of a reading selection.
- Summarize information from multiple sources to address a specific topic.
- Analyze and describe the characteristics of various types of literature.

Note--The descriptions are adapted from Review Background Information and Instructions, Standards and Assessment Alignment Analysis, CCSSO TILSA Alignment Study, May 21-24, 2001, Version 2.0.

Universal Test Design Considerations

Universal design, as applied to assessments, is a concept that allows the widest possible range of students to participate in assessments and may even reduce the need for accommodations and alternative assessments by expanding access to the tests themselves. In the Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests, modifications have been made to some items that simplify and clarify instructions, and provide maximum readability, comprehensibility, and legibility. This includes such things as reduction of language load in content areas other than Reading, increased font size, fewer items per page, and boxed items to assist visual focus. Reading tests will have vocabulary at grade level. In all other tests, the vocabulary level will be below the grade being tested except for content words. Grades 3 and 4 will be one grade level below, and grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 will be two grade levels below. These modifications are evident in the sample items included in this document.

Testing Schedules

At grades 6, 7, and 8, each subject area test is meant to be administered in a separate session. Students may be given additional time if needed, but additional time will be given as an extension of the same testing period, not at a different time.

Grade 7 Mathematics
Test Session	Approximately:
Distributing books, filling in the Student Demographic Page, reading directions	20 minutes
Administering the Mathematics Test; no calculators are allowed during this test	60-80 minutes
Total:	80-100 minutes

Grade 7 Reading
Test Session	Approximately:
Distributing books, reading directions	15 minutes
Administering the Reading Test	95-115 minutes
Total:	110-130 minutes

Grade 7 Geography
Test Session	Approximately:
Distributing books, filling in the Student Demographic Page, reading directions	20 minutes
Administering the Test	60-80 minutes
Total:	80-100 minutes

Multiple-Choice Item Guidelines

- All item stems clearly indicate what is expected in an item to help students focus on selecting a response.
- Each multiple-choice item has a stem (question, statement, or incomplete statement, and/or graphic component) and four answer (or completion) options, only one of which is correct.
- Multiple-choice item stems present a complete problem so that students know what to do before looking at the answer choices; students should not need to read all answer choices before knowing what is expected.
- Art incorporated within an item must be functional and assist students in determining the correct response.

In summary, test items assess whether students: understand relevant concepts and procedures; communicate their understandings effectively in content specific terms; approach problems; and develop viable solutions. In Reading, items ask questions that address issues of importance in a text, and the questions are consequential, concise, focused, and fair.

Stimulus Materials

Stimulus materials are the passages, graphs, models, figures, etc. that students must read and examine in order to respond to items. The following characteristics are necessary for stimulus materials:

1. When students are given information, data, or an experimental setup to evaluate, they should know the research question and the purpose of the research.
2. Tables, graphs, reading passages, and illustrations provide sufficient information for assessment of multiple standards.
3. Stimulus materials for a set of items may be a combination of multiple stimuli.
4. Information in stimulus materials is representative of concepts and principles described in the Oklahoma Academic Standards.
5. For conceptual items, stimulus materials are necessary but not conceptually sufficient for student response.
6. There is a balance of graphic and textual stimulus materials within a test form. At least 50% of the items have appropriate pictorial and graphical representations. Graphs, tables, or figures are clearly associated with their intended items. Graphics appear either on the same page as the stimulus or on the facing page.
7. The stimuli avoid subject matter that might prompt emotional distress on the part of the students.
8. Permission to use stimuli from copyrighted material is obtained as necessary by the testing vendor.

General Considerations

It is necessary to create test items that are reliable, fair, and targeted to each of the Oklahoma Academic Standards listed on the following pages. There are some general considerations and procedures for effective item development. These considerations include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Each test form contains items assessing standards and objectives listed in the Test Blueprint for the specific grade and content area. In the Oklahoma Academic Standards document, asterisks have been used to identify standards and objectives that must be assessed by the local school district.
2. Test items that assess each standard are not limited to one particular type of response format. Each item begins with a stem that asks a question or poses a clear problem. Stems may include incomplete sentences in order to reduce unnecessary repetition of text.
3. Test items attempt to focus on content that is authentic and that grade-level students can relate to and understand.
4. Test items are worded precisely and clearly. The more focused an item, the more reliable and fair it will be, and the more likely all students will understand what is required of them.

5. All items are reviewed to eliminate language that is biased or is otherwise likely to disadvantage a particular group of students. That is, items do not display unfair representations of gender, race, ethnicity, disability, culture, or religion; nor do items contain elements that are offensive to any such groups.
6. All multiple-choice items, including the correct response and distractors, are similar in length and syntax. Students should not be able to rule out a wrong answer or identify a correct response solely because it looks or sounds different from the other answer choices. Distractors are created so that students reason their way to the correct answer rather than simply identify incorrect responses because of a distractor’s obviously inappropriate nature. Distractors should always be plausible (but incorrect) in the context of the item stem. Correct responses are reasonably distributed among A’s, B’s, C’s, and D’s. The distractors adopt the language and sense of the material in the selection. Test items focus on reading skills and comprehension strategies, avoiding measurement of a student’s feelings or values.
7. Items deal with issues and details that are of consequence in the stimulus and central to students’ understanding and interpretation of the stimulus.
8. To the greatest extent possible, no item or response choice clues the answer to any other item. No item stem or answer option provides clues to any other item’s answer, nor is the same fact of the passage assessed more than once, including the same vocabulary or technical term.
9. Test items are tied closely and particularly to the stimuli from which they derive, so that the impact of outside (prior) knowledge, while never wholly avoidable, is minimized.
10. The responses “Both of the above,” “All of the above,” “None of the above,” and “Neither of the above” are not used.
11. Most stems are positively worded, avoiding the use of the word not. If a negative is required, the format is “All of the following . . . except.”
12. The material presented is balanced, culturally diverse, well-written, and of interest to students. The stimuli and items are presented fairly in order to gain a true picture of students’ skills.
13. Across all forms, a balance of gender and active/passive roles by gender is maintained.
14. No resource materials or calculators may be used by students during the test.

Considerations for Reading

Grade-level passages contain identifiable key concepts with relevant supporting details. Each passage will be appropriate for determining the purpose for reading; analyzing character traits; compare/contrast; problem/solution; interpretation; application; analysis; synthesis; drawing conclusions; making an inference; being conducive for vocabulary analogies; and relevant reading tasks as defined by the Oklahoma Academic Standards for the specific grade level.

The passages have a variety of sentence types and lengths, may include dialogue, reflect Oklahoma's cultural diversity, and possess sufficient structural integrity to allow them to be self-contained. Reading passages will reflect a balance of genres from narrative and expository texts. The majority of the selections used for the reading test include authentic literature; a minor portion may be selected from commissioned works.

All passages are reviewed to eliminate cultural or other forms of bias that might disadvantage any group(s) of students. The passages avoid subject matter that might prompt emotional distress. Permission to use selections from copyrighted material are obtained as necessary. Each passage generates multiple-choice items.

Grade	Word Count*	Authentic Literary Selections	Expository Selections (1 task-oriented/functional)
3	200-600	3-6	3-5
4	200-600	4-6	3-5
5	300-700	4-6	4-6
6	300-700	4-6	4-6
7	500-900	4-6	4-6
8	500-900	4-6	4-6

*Paired passages can have a total word count 1.5 times the highest word count for that grade.

A test form contains at least one set of paired passages that allows students to make comparisons and connections between texts. The items with paired passages, which require comparisons and connections, should appear after both passages. There is a minimum of three questions for the related paired passages in addition to three to five separate questions for each of the passages in the pair.

Readability

The selected reading passages will be at the appropriate grade level. The readability level of all passages is evaluated using three recognized readability formulas. The formulas chosen for each grade vary according to the purpose for which the formula was developed.

Grades 3 and 4 use the following formulas: Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level, Spache, or any other formula that is deemed appropriate. Grades 5-8 determine the readability level of their passages using the following formulas: Dale-Chall, Flesch-Kincaid Grade Level, Smog, or any other formulas considered reliable.

In addition, sentence structure, length, vocabulary, content, visuals, and organization are reviewed when selecting appropriate grade level passages. The teacher panel that reviews the passages provides the final evaluation instrument used to make a decision in regards to the readability of a passage.

Vocabulary

The vocabulary words tested in Oklahoma Core Curriculum Tests come directly from the passage content. Words used for vocabulary items have sufficient surrounding context clues for the reader to determine the meaning. Students may encounter words in the text that are not tested, but are above the student's grade placement. In Grades 3-5, these challenging words and their definitions may be placed in a word box above the story or article. In Grades 6-8, the definitions of challenging words may be placed in footnotes.

No single source is available to determine the reading level of various words. Therefore, the appropriateness and difficulty of a word is determined in various ways. Vocabulary words are checked in the following: EDL Core Vocabularies in Reading, Mathematics, Science, and Social Studies; Basic Reading Vocabularies; The Living Word; or other reliable readability sources. In addition to using the aforementioned printed resources to assist in creating vocabulary items, each vocabulary item must be approved by Oklahoma's Content Review Committee. The committee, comprised of Oklahoma educators from across the state, reviews proposed vocabulary items for grade level appropriateness. Reading tests will have vocabulary at grade level. In all other tests, the vocabulary level will be below the grade being tested except for content words. Grades 3 and 4 will be one grade level below, and grades 5, 6, 7, and 8 will be two grade levels below.

All items developed using these specifications are reviewed by Oklahoma educators and approved by the Oklahoma State Department of Education. The distribution of newly developed items is based on content and process alignment, difficulty, cognitive ability, percentage of art/graphics, and grade-level appropriateness as determined by an annual Item Development Plan approved by the Oklahoma State Department of Education.

Overview of Item Specifications

For each of the OAS standards, item specifications are organized under the following headings:

- OAS Standard and OAS Objective
- Item Specifications
 - a. Emphasis
 - b. Stimulus Attributes
 - c. Format
 - d. Content Limits
 - e. Distractor Domain
 - f. Sample Test Items

The headings “OAS Standard” and “OAS Objective” state the standard and objective being measured as found in the Reading section of the Oklahoma Academic Standards document.

The heading Item Specifications highlights important points about the items’ emphasis, stimulus attributes, format, content limits, distractor domain, and sample test items. Although it is sometimes possible to score single items for more than one concept, all items in these tests are written to address a single content standard as the primary concept.

Note about the Item Specifications and Sample Items:

With the exception of content limits, the item specifications give suggestions of what might be included and do not give an exhaustive list of what can be included. The sample items are not intended to be definitive in nature or construction—the stimuli and the test items that follow them may differ from one test form to another, as may their presentations.

Oklahoma Academic Standards

LANGUAGE ARTS

Grade 7

Asterisks (*) have been used to identify standards and objectives that must be assessed by the local school district. All other skills may be assessed by the Oklahoma School Testing Program (OSTP).

Reading/Literature: The student will apply a wide range of strategies to comprehend, interpret, evaluate, appreciate, and respond to a wide variety of texts.

Standard 1: Vocabulary - The student will expand vocabulary through word study, literature, and class discussion.

Use a knowledge of word parts and word relationships, as well as context clues (the meaning of the text around a word), to determine the meaning of specialized vocabulary and to understand the precise meaning of grade-level-appropriate words.

1. Words in Context—Verify the meaning of a word in its context, even when its meaning is not directly stated, through the use of definitions, restatement, example, comparison, or contrast.
2. Word Origins
 - a. Identify the origins and meanings of foreign words frequently used in English and use these words accurately in speaking and writing.

Example: Understand and use in speaking and writing foreign words that are often used in English such as lasagne (Italian), sauerkraut (German), and déjà vu (French).

- b. Use knowledge of Greek and Latin word parts and roots to determine the meaning of subject area vocabulary.

Example: Analyze the roots, prefixes, and suffixes of subject area words such as telescope, geography, and quadrant.
3. Idioms and Comparisons—Identify and explain idioms and comparisons, such as analogies, metaphors, and similes, to infer the literal and figurative meanings of phrases.
 - a. Idioms: expressions that cannot be understood just by knowing the meanings of the words in the expression, such as the apple of his eye or beat around the bush
 - b. Analogies: comparisons of the similar aspects of two different things.
 - c. Metaphors: implied comparisons, such as The street light was my security guard.
 - d. Similes: comparisons that use like or as, such as A gentle summer breeze feels like a soft cotton sheet.

Standard 2 Fluency—The student will identify words rapidly so that attention is directed to the meaning of the text.

1. Read regularly in independent-level materials (texts in which no more than 1 in 20 words is difficult for the reader) fluently and accurately, and with appropriate time, change in voice, and expression.
2. Read regularly in instructional-level materials that are challenging but manageable (text in which no more than approximately 1 in 10 words is difficult for the reader; a “typical” seventh grader reads 135 words per minute).
3. Increase silent reading speed and comprehension through daily, independent reading.
4. Read silently for increased periods of time.
5. Use punctuation as a cue for pausing and characterization while reading.

Standard 3: Comprehension—The student will interact with the words and concepts in a text to construct an appropriate meaning.

Read and understand grade-level-appropriate material. Describe and connect the essential ideas, arguments, and perspectives of the text by using a knowledge of text structure, organization, and purpose. At Grade 7, in addition to regular classroom reading, read a variety of grade-level-appropriate narrative (story) and expository (informational and technical) texts, including classic and contemporary literature, poetry, magazines, newspapers, reference materials, and online information.

1. Literal Understanding
 - a. Apply prereading strategies when reading both fiction and nonfiction that is appropriately designed for grade level.
 - Determine the purpose for reading such as to be informed, entertained, or persuaded.
 - Preview the material and use prior knowledge to make connections between text and personal experience.
 - b. Recognize transition words to guide understanding of the text (e.g., as a result, first of all, furthermore).
 - c. Show understanding by asking questions and supporting answers with literal information from text.
2. Inferences and Interpretation
 - a. Make inferences and draw conclusions with evidence drawn from the text and/or student experiences.
 - b. Make inferences supported by a character’s thoughts, words, and actions or the narrator’s description.

3. Summary and Generalization

- a. Summarize the main idea and how it is supported with specific details.
- b. Recall major points in the text and make and revise predictions.
- c. Recognize the importance and relevance of details on the development of the plot.
- d. Support reasonable statements by reference to relevant aspects of text and examples.

4. Analysis and Evaluation

- a. Compare and contrast points of view, such as first person, third person, limited and omniscient, and explain their effect on the overall theme of a literary work.
- b. Evaluate events that advance the plot of a literary work and how those events relate to past, present, or future actions.
- c. Analyze character traits, conflicts, motivations, points of view, and changes that occur within the story and discuss the importance to the plot or theme.
- d. Evaluate the accuracy or appropriateness of the evidence used by the author to support claims and assertions.
- e. Distinguish between stated fact, reasoned judgment, and opinion in text.

*5. Monitoring and Correction Strategies

- a. Monitor the understanding of text and use correcting strategies, such as rereading a portion, using reference aids, or searching for content when needed.
- b. Make, confirm, and revise predictions when reading.
- c. Adjust reading rate and determine appropriate strategies to match the purpose, difficulty, and characteristics of the text.

Standard 4: Literature—The student will read, construct meaning, and respond to a wide variety of literary forms.

Read and respond to grade-level-appropriate historically or culturally significant works of literature that reflect and enhance a study of history and social science. Clarify the ideas and connect them to other literary works. Participate productively in self-directed work teams to create observable products.

1. Literary Genres—Demonstrate a knowledge of and an appreciation for various forms of literature.
 - a. Analyze the characteristics of genres, including short story, novel, drama, poetry, and nonfiction.
 - b. Analyze characteristics of subgenres, including autobiography, biography, fable, folk tale, mystery, and myth.

2. Literary Elements—Demonstrate knowledge of literary elements and techniques and how they affect the development of a literary work.
 - a. Analyze and explain elements of fiction, including plot, conflict, resolution, character, setting, theme, and point of view.
 - b. Identify and explain techniques of direct and indirect characterization in fiction.
 - c. Describe how the author’s perspective, argument, or point of view affects the text.
 - d. Analyze inferred and recurring themes in literary works (e.g., bravery, loyalty, historical).
3. Figurative Language and Sound Devices—The student will identify figurative language and sound devices and will analyze how they affect the development of a literary work.
 - a. Identify and explain the use of figurative language in literary works to convey mood, images, and meaning, including metaphor, personification, and simile.
 - b. Identify and explain the use of sound devices in literary works to convey mood, images, and meaning, including alliteration, onomatopoeia, and rhyme.
 - c. Analyze poetry and evaluate poetic styles (e.g., rhymed, free verse, and patterned [cinquain, diamante]).
- *4. Literary Works—The student will read and respond to historically and culturally significant works of literature.
 - a. Analyze and evaluate works of literature and the historical context in which they were written.
 - b. Analyze and evaluate literature from various cultures to broaden cultural awareness.
 - c. Compare similar characters, settings, and themes from varied literary traditions.

Standard 5: Research and Information—The student will conduct research and organize information.

1. Accessing Information—Select the best source for a given purpose.
 - a. Use library catalogs and computer databases to locate sources for research topics.
 - b. Access a variety of primary and secondary sources to locate information relevant to research questions.
 - c. Gather data for research purposes through interviews (e.g., prepare and organize relevant questions, make notes of responses, and compile the information).

- d. Use organizational strategies as an aid to comprehend increasingly difficult content material.
 - e. Note instances of persuasion, propaganda, and faulty reasoning in text.
 - f. Use reference features of printed text, such as citations, endnotes, and bibliographies to locate relevant information about a topic.
2. Interpreting Information—The student will analyze and evaluate information from a variety of sources.
- a. Record, organize, and display relevant information from multiple sources in systematic ways (e.g., outlines, graphic organizers, or note cards).
 - b. Interpret and use graphic sources of information such as graphs, maps, timelines, or tables, to address research questions.
 - c. Analyze and paraphrase or summarize information gathered from a variety of sources into a research paper.
 - d. Determine the appropriateness of an information source for a research topic.
 - e. Identify and credit the sources used to gain information for both quoted and paraphrased information in a bibliography using a consistent format.

*Reading PassagesCamping in the Cold

- 1 The wind blows cold
And carries on it the scent of snow
Crisp, clear, crackling.
- Perfect weather for a cozy fire
- 5 And a good book and salty popcorn
Yet here I am,
Camping in this barren forest
With my parents
Who do not tolerate bad attitudes.
- 10 So though my cheeks are chapped red
And my nose continuously snuffles
I hike through the woods like a pro.
My feet push through piles of leaves
Crunch, crunch, crunch
- 15 We echo through the woods
Eerily quiet except for the wind howling past us
As even the squirrels know it is time to be Inside somewhere warm.
- My parents laugh and bare their teeth to the wind
- 20 They thrive on adventure and challenges
I thrive on cold soda and cake
But here I am, burning hot dogs over a blazing fire.
- Darkness falls like a curtain
Over the tall trees towering above us
- 25 And then it is time for sleep.
- I lay still with eyes wide, staring into the darkness
And the night sounds of the forest
Come alive, like a small child creeping downstairs
For a forbidden glass of milk after bedtime.

30 The trees' bare branches beat together like bones
Clacking in the wind
A steady drumbeat.
The rustling of 'possums and raccoons
Drifts by now and then

35 And owls hoot softly, in the distance and now nearby
Their cries making my skin suddenly shiver.

I listen in wonder, never having noticed
The symphony of sounds to be discovered in the woods
When people are not talking or walking
40 When we have time to just wait and be still.

But my eyes are getting heavy
As warmth steals through my body
Tired from its hiking
I am cozy and I am safe, with my parents nearby.

45 I could be at home with a book
But instead I am here, sleeping among the wild things
Breathing in the aroma of pine and mold
Part of nature in its barren beauty.

Tomorrow we will fish and rock climb
50 Tomorrow I will watch for sparrows and woodlarks
Tomorrow my smile will be a real one.

I drift off to sleep to the lullaby of the woods,
An unusual but powerful tune.

City Birds

- 1 It swoops. It soars. It dives. It plunges towards the ground at speeds up to 200 miles per hour. It snatches its dinner in its claws before returning to its nest. Although this may sound like something you would see on a television documentary about the lives of birds in the wild, it could not be more different. This scene took place in one of the busiest places of the world, the Big Apple, better known as New York City.
- 2 What is a falcon doing in a huge city like this? Did it somehow get lost on its way home? Believe it or not, there are a growing number of peregrine falcons that actually call New York City their home.
- 3 Forty years ago, scientists realized that something was wrong in the world of peregrine falcons. Their numbers were dropping. The species was in trouble. Thanks to some quick research, they discovered that the problem was a certain chemical being used all over the country to get rid of some weeds and bugs. Because the falcons would occasionally eat some of those same bugs, they got an unwanted dose of the chemical too. In turn, that ingredient made the shells of the falcons' eggs so thin that they would shatter when the mother bird tried to sit on them. Scientists worked hard, and soon that chemical was banned throughout the United States. By this time, however, the birds were already on the endangered list.
- 4 To help the birds survive, experts began hacking them, which means teaching the young birds to fly without the examples and lessons from older birds. Instead of figuring out what to do from their parents, these falcons are taught by patient, dedicated humans.
- 5 Once they were taught the skills they needed to survive, over one thousand birds were released across the eastern United States, including New York City. To scientists' delight, the falcons adapted quickly to life in the big city. The reasons are quite understandable too.
- 6 First of all, falcons want to make sure their nests are safe from any creatures looking for a snack. There are very few hungry owls around the tops of these buildings. Secondly, in nature, falcons live near mountains and valleys. The skyscrapers and streets of New York City are a close imitation. Perhaps best of all, the city is full of pigeons, and that just happens to be one of the falcons' favorite meals.
- 7 Although they do not realize it, the peregrine falcons of New York City have unseen helpers. Wildlife biologists from the city's New York

Department of Environmental Protection check on the nest sites on a regular basis. During mating season, they set up nesting boxes that are quite comfortable and very safe for the mother bird. These special boxes protect the fragile eggs from sun, wind, and rain. Then, during the birds' breeding season, the biologists visit the nest sites every day. They collect information on how many eggs have been laid and how the falcon family is doing.

- 8 The safety that New York City provides to these birds makes it a wonderful place for them to live. No longer endangered, these magnificent creatures are free again to swoop, soar, dive, and plunge amongst the mountains of glass and steel and the valleys of asphalt that they call home.

Just Like Practice

- 1 Connie watched as Coach Sanders helped Julia limp off the soccer field. "It's my ankle," her friend grimaced when Connie rushed over to ask how she was. "I guess it's up to you, Connie," she panted. Connie's stomach dropped; her heart began pounding like the hooves of stampeding horses.
- 2 "Me?" she asked, hesitantly. She glanced at her friend's swollen ankle, hoping for a miracle. She looked out at the field where her teammates and members of the other team were getting ready to resume play. Connie had already played her usual few minutes in the first half. Like always, she had spent the time hoping the ball would not come her way.
- 3 "Connie," Julia said, "You can do it, just like you do in practice."
- 4 "Let's go, Connie," Coach Sanders said. "You're the best scorer we have left." Then he shouted to the rest of the team. "We need only one goal to tie. Don't quit now, there's still enough time!"
- 5 Connie's knees felt like rubber as she ran out onto the field. "Don't mess up. Don't mess up," she repeated to herself over and over.
- 6 "Just like practice, Connie," Coach Sanders reminded her one more time. If only that were true, Connie thought. In practice, Connie was a terrific player. In fact, some people thought she was better than Julia, the team's star player. Connie could guide the ball smoothly through defenders, make sharp, accurate passes, and score from either side of the goal. Coach Sanders had often commented on the way she could control the soccer ball with her feet.
- 7 That was practice, though; games were a totally different story. Something happened to Connie during the games. Her legs felt rubbery, her breath came in gasps, and her heart fluttered in her chest. Whenever she got near the ball, things seemed to go wrong and Connie soon started dreading the games. Coach Sanders insisted on putting her into the game each week for a few minutes, but he usually did so only when the team was comfortably ahead. Now her team, the Wolverines, was playing for the city championship against the Hornets. If they won, they would advance to the state playoffs. Why did Julia have to get hurt now? Connie wondered anxiously.

- 8 The Wolverines were behind 2-1 and the Hornets had the ball. The Wolverines prepared to play tough defense. There were only a few minutes remaining. Suddenly, Tonesha, one of Connie's teammates, intercepted a pass and streaked down the middle of the field towards the Hornet's goal. Without thinking, Connie knew what to do. She raced down the right side just like in practice. Tonesha saw her and kicked the ball. It was a perfect pass, but as it got closer, Connie started having her old doubts. "Don't mess up!" her mind screamed as she received the pass. "Please go in!" she whispered as she kicked the ball hard. For a second it looked good, but then sailed right, missing the goal by several feet.
- 9 Connie hung her head. "Choked again," she muttered. Her teammates said, "good try" or "that's okay," but their eyes seemed to say something different. Same old Connie. Connie had no time to sulk, though, because the game was not over.
10. The Hornets had the ball again. Connie was guarding the Hornet player with the ball. She could hear the noise of the crowd building. She knew it was almost over. This was her chance. She waited until she thought the Hornet player was about to pass the ball. Then she darted in, stole the pass, and raced downfield ahead of everyone. With the crowd and her teammates screaming behind her, Connie was determined to score. She waited until the last second and when the Hornet goalie moved to the right, Connie kicked the ball into the left corner of the goal. She had tied the game! As the ball settled into the net, the referee blew his whistle; time had expired. The teams would now have to break the tie to determine who went to the next play-off level. Connie could hardly wait!

The First Lady of the World

- 1 Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, the wife of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, became the First Lady of the United States in 1932. The country was going through a difficult time. Many people did not have jobs and there was not enough food to eat. Unlike most presidents' wives before her, Eleanor was not afraid to say what she thought. She wanted all people to be treated fairly. She cared about civil rights for women, children, and the poor. Traveling throughout the country gave her a chance to encourage the people she met.
- 2 Where did this energetic, enthusiastic woman come from? Eleanor was born in New York City and was raised by a very strict grandmother who sent her to school in England. As a child, she was solemn and shy and made to feel unattractive. She did not enjoy many of the activities popular at her age. Instead, she did volunteer work helping the poor. Gradually, she overcame her low self-esteem. She met and married a handsome, young man named Franklin. They had six children during their first fourteen years of marriage.
- 3 Eleanor worked at a canteen during World War I serving soup and snacks to soldiers. In 1920, she joined the League of Women Voters. This group encouraged women to become involved in government. In 1927, Eleanor later worked as the vice principal and teacher in a New York school. She also wrote articles for newspapers and magazines.
- 4 Franklin Roosevelt was interested in politics. He became a state senator. Later he was assistant secretary of the Navy. Suddenly, Franklin was struck with polio, a crippling illness. He was concerned that his career in politics was over. However, Eleanor became her husband's helper and assistant. Since he could no longer walk, she became his legs. In 1928, Franklin was elected governor of New York. She often took his place on official visits. When he ran for President, she went on the campaign trail, shaking hands with voters. This was something no other wife had done.
- 5 When Franklin was elected president in 1932, the country was going through a difficult time. Many people did not have jobs and food was scarce.
- 6 Eleanor vowed to be "useful." She worked in 23 urban areas and visited workers in mines and factories. She traveled throughout the country. She became her husband's ears to understand what was happening. She held weekly press conferences and invited women reporters. Including women was another “first” for the First Lady. During World War II, she visited troops in the United States and other countries. Eleanor continued working for equal rights. Her husband was finally persuaded to appoint a woman as Secretary of Labor.

- 7 When she was no longer the official First Lady, Eleanor continued to work for her country. She became one of the delegates to the new United Nations. She served as a leader of the UN Commission on Human Rights. She served on many committees designed to gain equal rights in all countries. Her life was devoted to helping others throughout the world. Eleanor was a woman of courage and intelligence, daring to do what no one had done before. She was the best First Lady in the history of our country.

Theodore's Love of Nature

- 1 A child was born on October 27, 1858, in New York City. Perhaps no one at that time realized what a great asset this boy would be to the United States of America. Although the boy struggled with a respiratory condition, he would grow to possess a great deal of physical strength. He would also help to preserve those things that were important to him and important to future generations. This boy's name is Theodore Roosevelt, and he would become the 26th President of the United States of America.
- 2 Theodore's parents encouraged their children to be interested and curious about the world around them. However, Theodore had been born with asthma, an illness that limited his childhood activities. Because his asthma kept him indoors most of the time, Theodore read from any book that he could obtain.
- 3 Theodore, however, did not view his situation as a problem. Even though he enjoyed the time he was able to spend outside and developed a love of nature, he found a way to bring his love of nature inside by reading about the outside world. He enjoyed being studious and thought that he would probably study nature as an adult. Theodore made good use of his time, both inside and outside, keeping a detailed notebook of the observations he made of different insects and animals. He eventually turned a room in his home into a museum that he called "The Roosevelt Museum of Natural History." Here, Theodore would study and display various specimens of live animals.
- 4 One summer as Theodore's family was vacationing outside of the busy city, Theodore learned many different birdcalls. He would call out to a bird, and it would fly to him. One day, 75 swallows that were migrating through the area flew right into the Roosevelt country house.
- 5 Although Theodore's mind was quite active, his asthma concerned his father, who wanted his son to lead an active life. One day, Theodore's father talked privately to his son. He told young Theodore that he needed to build his body to match his mind. After that, Theodore worked hard at making his body strong. He lifted weights and watched as his body slowly became stronger.
- 6 As Theodore matured into a man, he combined his love of nature with his desire to keep his body physically strong. He proved to himself how strong he had become when he climbed Mount Marcy, the highest peak in the Adirondack mountain range in New York. Later in life, he completed another amazing physical feat when he discovered where a river called the River of Doubt in Brazil originated. Because of this discovery, the Brazilians renamed the river Rio Teodoro, after Theodore.

- 7 As President of the United States, Theodore's love of nature led him to contribute greatly to conservation efforts. One of his contributions included increasing the national forests by 40 million acres. He also created five national parks and several national monuments and bird shelters.
- 8 Theodore Roosevelt lived to be 60 years old. He lived a full and happy life by challenging himself and by being true to the causes that he knew were important for future generations.

The Stick Game

- 1 A pile of special sticks lay outside the meeting house on a small island in New Zealand. They appeared to be ordinary three-foot-long sticks. However, these were unique, made from the branches of the Pohutakawa tree. The bark was worn off in the middle of each stick.
- 2 After quickly completing a few household chores, the Maori children dashed out of their simple New Zealand homes. The day was hot and dry. They were dressed lightly, not bothering with shoes. Soon a small group of children gathered in the courtyard and the special sticks were no longer idle.
- 3 Twelve year old Ulana was the first to pick up the sticks. She grasped her two favorite sticks in the middle and held them up and down, like posts. She was a lioness exhibiting the confidence of a Maori leader. Other children followed, each choosing their own pair of sticks. They knelt in a crooked circle outside the meeting house and began to chant.
- 4 As they chanted, Ulana thumped her sticks on the ground, banged them together, and then threw them, upright, to the child on her right. The game continued in this way, with children banging and throwing sticks to the rhythm of the chant. When a stick was dropped, the child left the circle.
- 5 The older women were cooking meals over open fires as the men passed by with strings of fish. The adults watched the children's game approvingly. Children were supposed to be cheerful and carefree, and playing Ti Rakau was considered an important learning activity.
- 6 The stick game, or Ti Rakau, is an important traditional activity for the Maori people. They believe it teaches the children improved coordination and accuracy. The game helps them become skilled at tasks, such as hunting and building, and teaching them teamwork. Sometimes only two people play, tossing the sticks back and forth, while at other times as many as forty people participate. To be recognized as a successful Ti Rakau player is a great honor.
- 7 Ulana usually won because her hands were quick and agile, like the movements of a dolphin. She rarely missed a toss in her direction. Because of this success, people in the village felt that Ulana would eventually become an important leader in the village.

- 8 With a voice of a canary, Ulana sang the chant loud and clear. She watched the other children as the sticks moved from one to the other. Soon, the sticks were passed to a young boy, Kimo, who dropped the sticks and left the circle.
- 9 Ulana knew Kimo would drop the sticks; he usually did. He was not as skilled as the other children, and he was often the first child to leave the game. Still Kimo was always eager to play again when a new game started. He had heart.
- 10 Ulana knew this and believed Kimo would one day prove to the others that he could win. He was her younger brother's friend, and as they played, she had observed that Kimo was kind, thoughtful, and intelligent. Now as the game ended, she was once again the last one holding the sticks but she felt little joy. "When the same person wins all the time," she thought, "victory has less meaning."
- 11 She looked around at the other children and said, "Let's play again." Everyone eagerly reformed a crooked circle.
- 12 Ulana started the chant and passed the sticks. The children eagerly joined in the game. Kimo sat to her right and even though he always lost, he was thrilled to be playing. Ulana carefully tossed the sticks to him.
- 13 One by one the other children dropped out. Ulana continued to pass the sticks with the greatest of care. Soon only Ulana and Kimo were left. They tossed the sticks for several turns. Then, unexpectedly, Ulana dropped her sticks and Kimo won.
- 14 Her younger brother spun around. "I saw you drop that stick," he whispered harshly. "Everyone knows you could have won. Why did you do that? Why did you let Kimo win?"
- 15 Ulana looked at the children jumping and cheering. A broad smile spread across Kimo's face. "That is why," she nodded. And this time, there was joy in victory.

The Mysterious Barite Rose

Scientists Hope to Discover How Oklahoma's Special Rock Flowers Formed

- 1 Roses are such beautiful flowers. It's really too bad that their blossoms can't be cast in stone. Or perhaps they can. At least that's how some people once explained the unusual rose-shaped rocks found in Oklahoma.
- 2 Although fairly rare, rose rocks can be found in several places around the world. No matter where they are from, rose rocks look amazingly like a rose in full bloom. What makes those found in Oklahoma special, however, is their color. While most rose rocks appear light gray or grayish blue, the ones in Oklahoma range from dusty red to crimson. This is because of the red soil color in central Oklahoma where these rocks are most common.
- 3 Very little else, except what they are made of, is really known about the rose rocks. Scientists know that they are a combination of barium and sulfate, known as barite. This also makes the rose rocks different from those found in other places. The others are, instead, made of something called selenite, which gives them their lighter color.
- 4 Although their composition is known, many things about red rose rocks still stump scientists. One thing they are still not sure of is how they were formed. Another is why they are singular to Oklahoma.
- 5 Some once believed that these rocks were petrified roses. That means that they were actually roses that had turned to rock. Discovering the materials contained in the rocks, however, proved that this idea was wrong.
- 6 Many scientists now believe rose rocks began forming about 250 million years ago. At that time, it is thought that an ocean covered the state. The ocean water was rich in barite and as the water passed through the layer of red Garber sandstone on the ocean floor, barite crystals were formed. The crystals probably combined with the sandstone to form harder blades of rock. According to scientists, the petal-like blades clumped together into rose-shaped rocks.
- 7 This theory, of course, suggests that new rose rocks are no longer forming. Other scientists disagree, believing that rose rocks are still being formed. Even if the latter are correct, one thing is clear: collectors are grabbing them up faster than new ones can form. Certainly, it is hard to ignore the beautiful half-inch- to four-inch-wide near-perfect single roses. Especially appealing to serious collectors are the more extraordinary rose rock clusters. Some examples are several feet tall and may weigh as much as one thousand pounds.

- 8 Today, Oklahoma's rose rocks are becoming increasingly hard to find. Perhaps new veins remain to be discovered. While no one knows for sure, scientists still hope so. After all, those remaining in nature hold the key to the rose rock formation mystery

Sample Test Items by Standard

OAS Standard:

Standard 1: Vocabulary—The student will expand vocabulary through word study, literature, and class discussion.

Use a knowledge of word parts and word relationships, as well as context clues (the meaning of the text around a word), to determine the meaning of specialized vocabulary and to understand the precise meaning of grade-level-appropriate words.

OAS Objective:

1. Words in Context—Verify the meaning of a word in its context, even when its meaning is not directly stated, through the use of definitions, restatement, example, comparison, or contrast.

Item Specifications:Emphasis:

- Identify and clarify word meaning.
- Define technical and specialized terms and words with multiple meanings.
- Use process strategies including prediction, context, syntax, and structural analysis.

Stimulus Attributes:

- Test items may include phrases, sentences, and/or wording from the selection.

Content Limits:

- The selection containing the vocabulary (in the form of a word, phrase, or expression) must have sufficient clues for the reader to determine its meaning when using a variety of strategies.
- Narrative, expository, and functional texts are used.

Format:

- Items require the student to identify the meaning of specific technical and specialized terms using word analysis strategies including context clues, definition, restatement, example, and comparison/contrast.
- To provide context, questions may direct the student to the appropriate part of the text.

Distractor Domain:

- Incorrect answer choices (distractors) are plausible yet inaccurate meanings of the tested word or phrase.
- Distractors may be based on the use of a word or words that sound or look like the vocabulary word, but do not have the same meaning.

Standard 1: Vocabulary—The student will expand vocabulary through word study, literature, and class discussion.

Use a knowledge of word parts and word relationships, as well as context clues (the meaning of the text around a word), to determine the meaning of specialized vocabulary and to understand the precise meaning of grade-level-appropriate words.

OAS Objective:

2. Word Origins

- a. Identify the origins and meanings of foreign words frequently used in English and use these words accurately in speaking and writing.

Example: Understand and use in speaking and writing foreign words that are often used in English such as lasagne (Italian), sauerkraut (German), and déjà vu (French).

- b. Use knowledge of Greek and Latin word parts and roots to determine the meaning of subject area vocabulary.

Example: Analyze the roots, prefixes, and suffixes of subject area words such as telescope, geography, and quadrant.

Item Specifications:Emphasis:

- Recognize word origins.

Stimulus Attributes:

- Test items may include simulated dictionary entries, phrases, sentences, and/or wording from the selection.

Content Limits:

- The selection containing the vocabulary (in the form of a word, phrase, or expression) must have sufficient context clues for the reader to determine its meaning.
- Narrative and expository texts are used.

Format:

- Items require students to recognize use of familiar or frequently used foreign words or word parts to assess word origins.
- Items require the student to identify the origin or meaning of the word from context clues and constructed meaning.

Distractor Domain:

- Incorrect answer choices (distractors) are plausible yet incorrect meanings of the tested word or phrase based on the use of the word or words that sound or look like the vocabulary word but do not have the same meaning.

OAS Standard:

Standard 1: Vocabulary—The student will expand vocabulary through word study, literature, and class discussion.

Use a knowledge of word parts and word relationships, as well as context clues (the meaning of the text around a word), to determine the meaning of specialized vocabulary and to understand the precise meaning of grade-level-appropriate words.

OAS Objective:

3. Idioms and Comparisons—Identify and explain idioms and comparisons, such as analogies, metaphors, and similes, to infer the literal and figurative meanings of phrases.
 - a. Idioms: expressions that cannot be understood just by knowing the meanings of the words in the expression, such as the apple of his eye or beat around the bush
 - b. Analogies: comparisons of the similar aspects of two different things
 - c. Metaphors: implies comparisons, such as, The streetlight was my security guard
 - d. Similes: comparisons that use like or as, such as A gentle summer breeze feels like a soft cotton sheet

Item Specifications:Emphasis:

- Construct meaning from idioms and comparisons.
- Understand author’s technique (e.g., idioms, analogies, metaphors, and similes).

Stimulus Attributes:

- Test items may include phrases, sentences, and/or wording from the selection.

Content Limits:

- Narrative and expository texts containing figurative language are used.

Format:

- Items require the student to show an understanding of the author’s technique by selecting the option that best conveys the intended meaning of the target word or phrase based on the context; the question directs the student to the appropriate part of the text.

Distractor Domain:

- Incorrect answer choices (distractors) are plausible but illogical or literal interpretations based on the context.

OAS Standard:

Standard 3: Comprehension—The student will interact with the words and concepts in a text to construct an appropriate meaning.

Read and understand grade-level-appropriate material. Describe and connect the essential ideas, arguments, and perspectives of the text by using a knowledge of text structure, organization, and purpose. At Grade 7, in addition to regular classroom reading, read a variety of grade-level-appropriate narrative (story) and expository (informational and technical) texts, including classic and contemporary literature, poetry, magazines, newspapers, reference materials, and online information.

OAS Objective:

1. Literal Understanding

- a. Apply prereading strategies when reading both fiction and nonfiction that is appropriately designed for grade level.

Determine the purpose for reading such as to be informed, entertained, or persuaded.

Preview the material and use prior knowledge to make connections between text and personal experience.

Item Specifications:Emphasis:

- Determine the purpose for reading text.
- Use preview material and prior knowledge to make connections with text.

Stimulus Attributes:

- Test items may include phrases, sentences, and/or wording from the selection.

Content Limits:

- The reading selection must allow the reader to determine the purpose of the reading passage in order to determine the selection’s meaning.
- The stimulus must permit the reader to use prereading strategies to select the best response; the stimulus should contain a graphic similar to a book cover or book jacket, a short teaser or “book blurb,” and a title.
- Narrative, expository, and functional texts are used.

Format:

- Items require students to determine the purpose of the selection in order to understand the overall meaning of the passage.
- Items require students to use graphic stimuli as well as brief summaries or commentaries to predict the likely content of the text.
- Students may be required to recognize specific knowledge or information needed to understand the text.

Distractor Domain:

- Incorrect answer choices (distractors) are plausible, yet unrelated to the true purpose of the selection.
- Distractors are illogical conclusions that could be drawn from the preview material.

OAS Objective:

3. Summary and Generalization
 - a. Summarize the main idea and how it is supported with specific details.
 - b. Recall major points in the text and make and revise predictions.

Item Specifications:Emphasis:

- Determine the main idea of selections.
- Distinguish relevant versus irrelevant information.

Identify supporting details.

Stimulus Attributes:

- Test items may include phrases, sentences, and/or wording from the selection.

Content Limits:

- The selection must contain a clear main idea/key concept (stated or implied).
- The selection must contain a main idea/key concept that is supported by details.
- Narrative and expository texts are used.

Format:

- Items require students to determine the main idea using information from the selection that is clearly supported by the significant details included in the selection.
- Given a selection and a statement of the key concept(s) or main idea, the student is asked to select the relevant detail(s) that support or define the idea, issue, or problem.

Distractor Domain:

- Incorrect answer choices (distractors) paraphrase from text that does not represent key concepts or paraphrase based on implied information that does not represent key concepts or minor details from the text.
- Distractors for items in which the correct answer is a relevant supporting detail include details that are irrelevant to the key concept or main idea and/or information that is related to the key concept, but not included in the text.
- Distractors for items in which the correct answer requires the identification of irrelevant information include details that are relevant to the given key concept.
