1. Migration/movement/forced removal

Oklahoma History C3 Standard 2.3 “Integrate visual and textual evidence to explain the reasons for and trace the migrations of Native American peoples including the Five Tribes into present-day Oklahoma, the Indian Removal Act of 1830, and tribal resistance to the forced relocations.”

Oklahoma History C3 Standard 2.7 “Compare and contrast multiple points of view to evaluate the impact of the Dawes Act which resulted in the loss of tribal communal lands and the redistribution of lands by various means including land runs as typified by the Unassigned Lands and the Cherokee Outlet, lotteries, and tribal allotments.”

Originally located in the Great Lakes region (Michigan and Ohio); The tribe split into different bands in the 1700's (Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin areas). Each band was to sign a treaty in 1819 to cede land in Illinois. Those bands who did not adhere to the 1819 treaty were forcibly moved.

In 1832, a treaty was signed giving the Kickapoo a 12 square mile reservation in Kansas. Railroad promoters swindled the bands out of their land and many moved to Northern Mexico and Texas.

In 1873, almost half of the tribe moved to a reservation in Indian Territory. In 1891, the Oklahoma Kickapoo tribe divided over the selling of “surplus land”. Many who disagreed moved to Northern Mexico and Texas.

In 1997, representatives from the Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, and Mexico bands met for their first summit. This was the first meeting of the bands since the 1800's.
